Re: Mylo Harvey v City of Everett Police Department, et al
Our File No: 5332

Dear Ms. Flynn:

At your request, I have reviewed a 911 tape transcript, police reports, medical records, the Snohomish County autopsy report, scene and body photographs, depositions of the defendant officers and the responding firefighters (EMTs), statements and affidavits, the complaint and other documents regarding the arrest and death of Mylo Harvey.

The following are my opinions regarding how Mylo Harvey died:

The records indicate that on the evening of November 11, 2002, Mylo Harvey, a 19 year old male, was observed walking nude in the street, in the City of Everett. Police officers were dispatched to the scene. A violent struggle evolved. According to eyewitnesses, Harvey was not threatening to the police. During this time, he was repeatedly pepper sprayed and severely beaten with a baton on different areas of his body, including the head. Officers and eyewitnesses described a bleeding head wound. Officers then took Harvey to the ground and additional officers applied hobbles to his legs. One of the officers got on Harvey's chest and pulled his head up and forward forcing Harvey's chin into his own chest.

Suddenly, Harvey went limp and unresponsive. He appeared to have stopped breathing. Police then called for Fire Rescue. Medics arrived at the scene but were precluded by the officers from rendering assistance for several minutes. Eventually, when permitted to approach, the medics noted that he was unconscious with absence of vital signs, i.e., cardiac and respiratory arrest. With intensive CPR, breathing was reestablished, but he remained unconscious. Brain death was diagnosed at the hospital. After four days, life support was discontinued and Mylo Harvey was pronounced dead.

Autopsy, by the County Medical Examiner, attributes the death to hypoxic encephalopathy with cerebral edema due to cardiopulmonary arrest, while being restrained by police. The autopsy report also indicates blunt impacts to the head, with focal subarachnoid hemorrhage and severe brain swelling with evidence of tonsillar herniation, hemorrhages in soft tissues of the neck, bruising over the chest plate and multiple facial bruises and bruises on other parts of his body, some depicting the pattern of a police baton (ASP). Urine analysis indicates the presence of psilocybin, a mind altering drug which occurs in certain mushrooms. Drugs identified in the autopsy blood analysis, except for cannabinoids, were related to treatment performed by medical personnel after the subject incident.

Under the circumstances of this case, brain swelling most likely resulted, at least in part, from blows to the head. The brain always swells as it reacts to injury. Brain swelling caused compression of the vital centers in the medulla, which led to arrhythmia of the heart beat. Additionally, asphyxia was due to neck and chest compression, caused by loading of the chest with an officer's body weight and forceful positioning of his head. This further reduced Harvey's ability of breathe, coupled with irritation of the mucous lining of the airways by pepper spray (OC) which all contributed to brain swelling to the point of cardiopulmonary arrest. Police and firefighters who responded to the scene were also affected by the OC spray with "coughing and hacking" (Gagnon, 34) and tightness in the chest (Jones, 172). Psilocybin did not materially contribute to Mylo Harvey's brain swelling or cardiopulmonary arrest.

Had these procedures not been used, or in the alternative, had they been used but timely medical assistance had been made available without delay, it is my opinion, to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, that Mylo Harvey would not have died.

There can be no doubt that Mylo Harvey suffered conscious physical pain and fear of impending doom during the ordeal of his arrest as evident from his screaming and yelling

(Jones, 135) and repeated statements such as, "I don't want to die" (Jones, 126; 127 and Jeremy and Christy Thompson). According to the latter two witnesses also heard Harvey complaining of pain in his eyes and observed Harvey being struck with a club type weapon in a baseball batter fashion. The 7th strike was to the head.

Mylo Harvey was a healthy young man with a normal and average life expectancy.

My textbook, MEDICOLEGAL INVESTIGATION OF DEATH, 4th edition, published by Charles C. Thomas, Springfield, Illinois, 2005 discusses many of the issues in this letter in greater detail.

My curriculum vitae, list of testimony and my current fee schedule have been previously submitted.

I trust this answers your inquiry.

Re: Mylo Harvey v City of Everett Police Department, et al
Our File No: 5332

Dear Ms. Flynn:

In answer to your letter of April 11, 2006, I reviewed the testimony of Matthew Park, a fireman with the City of Everett. Mr. Park witnessed the arrest of Mylo Harvey. In his deposition testimony and in his statement to police dated November 19, 2002, Mr. Park states that the EMTs arrived on the scene and stood by for about 7 minutes while police secured the scene, and okayed their rendering first aid to Mylo Harvey, who had become unresponsive and appeared to have stopped breathing during his restraint.

CPR reestablished breathing but Harvey remained brain dead and after four days, life support was discontinued. With regards to the delay of resuscitative efforts for a period of seven minutes, it is understandable why brain death had occurred when CPR was finally performed. In the case of ischemic anoxia, as will occur in cases of ventricular fibrillation or cardiac arrest, all electrical activity ceases and cell death occurs in a few minutes because of failure to remove toxic metabolic byproducts. Under such circumstances, seven minutes is eternity.

Brain death will have occurred in less than 4-5 minutes after complete interruption of cerebral circulation. The heart may be even less tolerant of ischemia than the brain.

It is thus my opinion, to a reasonable degree of medical certainty, that had Harvey been given

CPR without delay, after he was found to be unresponsive, he would not have sustained brain damage and would not have died.

I trust this answers your inquiry.
